LITTLE GIRL

Accidentally Killed by Her Small Brother.

Very Sad Affair Occurred Near Wilbur, This County, in the Home of John Thompson.

A most lamentable accident, caused by the careless handling of firearms, occurred at the home of "Johnnie" Thompson, near Wilbur, this county, last Sunday afternoon, which resulted in the death of his daughter, Ethel, aged 13, at the hands of her brother, Charles, aged 15. The accident happened in the presence of some friends, only one of whom was old enough to tell anything about the sad occurrence. She says that the boy had started out with his gun and had gone as far as the gate, when he called to Ethel to bring him his gun. She procured the gun and took it to her brother. As he turned to take it from her one barrel of the gun, not thought to be loaded, was discharged, the entire load entering the child's left side, just below the heart. She lived about half an hour. She was conscious until a few minutes before she died. She kissed her brother and told her father that Charles did not intend to kill her. It is not known how the gun was discharged, but it is thought that when she tried to take the gun from her brother the gun struck the gate with force enough to cause discharge.

EDGAR HAGER SPOKE.

At the close of Mr. Heflin's speech last Monday afternoon Mr. Edgar Hager, of Ashland, was introduced in fitting manner by Mr. J. W. Castle. Mr. Hager and the portrait of Senator McCreary, which Mr. Castle displayed with the introduction, were well received. The eloquent gentleman from Ashland spoke only about five minutes, but he crammed those few minutes chock full of words of wisdom and good advice to the Democrats of Lawrence. He spoke chiefly concerning their duty in the present race, urging them to realize the importance of a straight vote for the Democratic ticket, State and County.

DR. QUISENBERRY, DENTIST.

Notice was given the News some time ago that Dr. S. P. Quisenberry had rented the office vacated a few months ago by Dr. Jenks and would locate here for the practice of dentistry. He now announces that he will arrive here next week and be ready for work by October 28th. He is a native of Central Kentucky and has been located at Grayson for awhile. He comes highly recommended.

BUSSEYVILLE OIL.

Samples of the Busseyville Oil Co.'s product have been examined at the Charleston Testing Laboratory, and the test shows the oil to be of high grade, closely resembling the "Pennsylvania" grade. It contains a high percentage of light, with a specific gravity of .8262, Baume 33.4, flash point 82.62, and burning point below 60 degrees Fah., viscosity 54 volatile in one hour at 212 Fah. 30.4.

PIKE COUNTY GIRLS FREE.

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 17.—Betty and Mary Tackett, sisters, were acquitted today of the charge of killing Charles Smith, a member of Sheriff's posse, who tried to raid the girls' home to arrest men accused of being moonshiners.

THE BIG SALE.

Jake Israsky, the enterprising merchant, comes to the front again this week with a two-page ad. in the Big Sandy News, and if you will read all he has to say on these pages you will find it very interesting. The usual run of prices on merchandise is higher than ever before known in the United States as we all know, and this condition makes it doubly necessary for everybody to save all they possibly can in buying. Somehow, Jake knows where to get the goods so he can make prices such as he names in his advertisement. He may have a brother in New York "swiping" the goods. Or, he may have scouts picking up the bargains found of various reasons. It doesn't matter to his customers, as long as they get the most and best goods for the least money.

In his new store in the large Burgess building Jake is three times as well prepared to supply the demands of his trade as he was in his former location. His stock is immense, well displayed, and conveniently arranged. This big sale started Thursday of this week with a rush. The earlier you can attend the sale the better it will be for you, but by all means come at some time before the sale ends November 4th.

WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN.

Prof. Coates Finds Perfectly Graded School in Lawrence.

The "whirlwind" educational campaign recently made in this county by Inspector Coates and Superintendent O'Daniel was a phenomenal one. One hundred and fifty miles were traveled and at least 4000 people were addressed. Prof. Coates was the leading figure in the campaign. Mr. O'Daniel modestly saying a few words here and there.

The interest of the school patrons was unbounded. At the forks of Georges Creek, for instance, not less than 700 men and women attended the meeting. Twenty meetings were held. In some instances several schools attending in a body. In all these meetings Prof. Coates never made the same speech twice. He spoke extemporaneously always on live and practical topics. The campaign closed with an address by Prof. Coates at the court house in this city last Saturday morning.

It is a cause for county pride and congratulation that the most perfectly graded country school in Kentucky is right here in our own county of Lawrence. This is the declaration of Prof. Coates, who speaks from an observation extending over the whole State. This model school is taught by Miss Emma Thompson, near Webville. She has but one room, but the classes are as completely graded as though she had half a dozen rooms. Not only is her school graded but Miss Thompson teaches her pupils many useful things besides what they learn from books. For instance she teaches the boys how to select seed for planting, and teaches them so successfully that every grain of corn selected by them was good seed actually germinated, and of the wheat so chosen only one grain failed to sprout.

The week's work of Prof. Coates and Supt. O'Daniel will bear good fruit.

A BOLD BURGLAR.

On Sunday night last some villain on mischief intent broke into the residence of Mr. Andrew Ball, who lives in the Gum Berry house across the first railroad fill above town. He cut through the screen door and burst open the door of Mrs. Ball's bedroom. His further progress was stopped by Mrs. Ball who opened fire upon him with a pistol, firing seven shots in his direction. The scamp hastily fled, and it is not known whether he was hit or not.

Ollie James spoke to an immense crowd at Prestonsburg Monday. He was greatly pleased with the enthusiasm displayed.

J. M. S. M. E. C. S.

You'll have to read this whole thing in order to find out what these letters mean. That's the reason for making this alphabetical headline. Read it, and you will know that on Saturday last 26 members of the Juvenile Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, chaperoned by Mrs. J. L. Carey, went to Buchanan for an outing and an "inning." They spent part of the day on the hills gathering chestnuts, and later they accepted Miss Elizabeth Hatten's invitation—of course they accepted it!—to come to her house and eat cream and cake. Here's where the "inning" was seen—and felt. It was truly an enjoyable occasion, a great treat for the youngsters.

The society went to Buchanan on the kind invitation of Mrs. Frank Wallace, Jr., as her guests.

BURIED AT HOME.

The funeral of Mrs. O. J. Vaughan, whose death was mentioned in this paper last week, took place on Friday, October 13th. It was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The services were conducted by the pastor of the deceased, the Rev. G. M. Copley, of the Baptist Church, assisted by Revs. H. B. Hulet and J. W. Crites. of this city. Interment followed in the home burial place, where lie the bodies of Mrs. Vaughan's father and mother. The deceased had been sick since February. She bore her illness with fortitude and Christian resignation, and passed from earth to a better world painlessly and peacefully. She was but 28 years old, a loving daughter, a devoted wife and noble woman.

KILLED BY MOB.

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 3.—Because he had accosted Mary Jones, aged 15 years, on the street, and had placed his arm around her waist, a mob followed John Lannan, at Aetnaville, and while he was in charge of a policeman, shot him to death.

The girl told what had occurred at a poolroom, and soon a score or more young men and boys had surrounded the Lannan house. When a police officer arrived he telephoned headquarters. While he was doing so unknown persons commenced firing, two shots striking Lannan and killing him almost instantly. Five persons are being held as witnesses, but so far the authorities have no clue as to who did the shooting.

TAKE NOTICE.

There will be an ice cream festival held at Adams, Ky., Saturday, October 21st, everybody come. It will be held for the benefit of the school. Come!

Mrs. Levi Webb and daughter, Dorothy Dean, of Webville, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Moore.

DRILLING HAS STARTED.

Another Oil Well Under Way Five Miles from Louisa.

Drilling on the Hays Oil Company first well started last Monday morning, with Tom Hays as contractor. With no bad luck the well should reach the Berea sand in about twenty days from the time of starting. This well is on a 300 acre lease, including the F. W. Meek farm. It is between the Lick Creek well and O'Neal well, a little north of a straight line between them.

The Wayne Oil Company has been delayed slightly in getting its first well started.

There are now eight new wells provided for in this field, with other propositions pending. This represents a heavy expenditure and is much faith in the field.

The Hamilton-Roberts Oil Company and the Hark-Shannon Oil Company are two new organizations.

Sam Spencer, who has been drilling wells on Beaver, has contracted to drill for the Square Deal Company and will start work as soon as possible. Part of the machinery is on the ground.

HEFLIN'S SPEECH

At Louisa Last Monday Was Greatly Enjoyed.

Immense Crowd Assembled Here From All Parts of the County to Hear Him.

In its last week's issue the News promised those who would come to Louisa on Monday last and hear T. J. Heflin, of Alabama, the treat of their lives. Several hundred people read that promise, and wanting to enjoy such an occasion they came, heard, and declare that the half had never been told. The day was an ideal autumn day. Clear, bright, no heat, no cold, no mud, no dust, and when the announced hour for the meeting had arrived the historic old court room which had in times past reverberated with the voices of many great orators was simply with one of the finest audiences which ever listened to a speaker discuss the living issues of the present.

The meeting was called to order by County Chairman A. O. Carter, who called Mr. Fred. Vinson, a young attorney of this city to introduce the speaker of the occasion, Mr. Heflin. Are you aware that very few men can properly introduce a man of prominence to an audience? It's the hardest sort of a thing to do. One is so apt to fall in love with the sound of his own oratory that he forgets that the audience is not his. Mr. Vinson did not make this mistake. Modestly, appropriately, and in most fitting terms he made his hearers acquainted with the distinguished gentleman whom he had the honor to present for the first time to a Big Sandy audience.

In fact our young friend did it so well that the News gives Mr. Vinson's introduction speech in full in this issue. Mr. Heflin began his speech in an easy, pleasant sort of way, in a mellow, truly Southern voice that reached, apparently without effort, to his remotest auditor, and in less than five minutes this big assemblage of men and ladies was at his command, swayed and moved as few men can move and sway an audience. He told of his friendship of Ollie James, and said that when the big hearted, big brained Kentuckian asked him to come to this State and speak for the Democratic state ticket he gladly consented. Mr. Heflin paid a glowing tribute to the grand old State, to her gallant sons and her noble daughters. His rhymined remarks concerning the deeds of Kentucky's heroes at the battle of New Orleans brought many of his hearers to their feet and were cheered to the echo. On such an occasion as this, said Mr. Heflin, it is only natural to speak of the Great Commoner, Henry Clay, when you speak of Kentucky. Mr. Clay had, indeed, favored a tariff to protect "infant industries," but he said it ought not to continue longer than ten years. "But, Great God, my friends, Mr. Clay has been dead 60 years, and the Republican party, fed and fattened by the robber trusts and monopolies, are making the tariff higher and more comprehensive all the time." Time and again the trusts had begged to be carried just a little further. Time and again they have been carried just a little further, and when the people through their representatives in Congress prayed for release from their burdens the robber barons, like the Old Man of the Sea on the back of Sinbad the Sailor, they sink their claws into the necks of the people and can not be shaken off.

Mr. Heflin dissected the tariff tax and flayed without mercy the multi-millionaires and the "statesmen" of Payne-Aldrich type who are venal enough to yield a willing compliance with the greedy demands of the trusts and the monopolies. Congress, said Mr. Heflin, is a bargain counter, and the President, to quote Senator Dolliver, is "a large body entirely surrounded by men who know exactly what they want." What Mr. Heflin said about the late extra session of Congress was both interesting and diverting, as was also his description of the President's refusal to even look at the bill prepared by the Democrats and insurgent Republicans, and how he looked shortly afterward as he sat on the White House porch and heard the election returns from Maine, Massachusetts, Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, and other old-time Republican states. Here is where Mr. Heflin's powers as a mimic and story teller and his wonderful use of satire and irony come in. He had ever the apt story "to point a moral," and while his sarcasm made you wince if it was directed at you he soothed your wounded feelings almost in the same breath with a story so admirably told that none could take offense. The veto by the President of the bill placing certain necessities on the free list, said Mr. Heflin, showed him to be both insincere and inconsistent. The President knew that the bills which he did approve was not a good one and not in keeping with the promises he had made to the people, but as he later "swung around the circle" the further he went the better he liked it, until, at Winona, he pronounced it the best tariff law ever enacted!

Mr. Heflin is in favor of a bill which will compel manufacturers to

THE LECTURE COURSE.

First Number in Louisa Will Appear Friday, Nov. 10th.

In its issue of last week the News briefly mentioned the fact that through the enterprise of Mrs. Guy Atkinson another entertainment course has been secured for the season of 1911-12. Our people remember with pleasure the high class features of the course of 1910-11, and the News is glad to assure the citizens of Louisa that the list of the numbers selected for the coming course contains some most excellent attractions. In fact it may be truthfully said that the entire course is equal to that offered in cities of ten times the size of ours, and which costs in some instances a third more than what a season ticket will cost for the numbers secured by Mrs. Atkinson. As the News said last week, the opening attraction will be presented November 10, three days after the election, affording additional pleasure to "these in the robes of glory," and a solace and balm to the feelings of those in the gloom of defeat!

The management will present on that occasion the Marguerite Smith Company. Miss Smith is the originator of the famous child impersonations, and is the greatest exponent of that art. The pianist of the Marguerite Smith Company is Miss Edith Rhett. Please notice that it is not Miss Edythe. She is from one of the best musical schools in the Middle West and is a performer of ability. The singer is Miss Olive Smith, a contralto known from the lakes to the gulf and from coast to coast.

On November 30, we are to have Robert O. Bowman in character portrayals.

On January 1, the Harmony Concert Company comes with its music to make good its name.

March 6 is the date for the appearance of William Sterling Batts, interpreter of Dickens. He is the trump card, if it is permissible to use the expression, of Chautauqua assemblies, never failing to delight his audiences.

Another attractive card is Byron Piatt, the Prophet of the New Era. The date of his lecture is not yet fixed.

This is the bill of fare provided for the feast to be spread during the coming season. Before each course comes in its turn the News will call special attention to its excellencies. In the meantime it commends Mrs. Atkinson to its readers, asking that they show their appreciation of her public spirit by responding liberally to her call for subscribers to the course. As before, a season ticket will cost $1.50, only 30 cents for a winter's entertainment. What Mr. Heflin said about

CITY OF JENKINS.

Construction work on the most of the contracts on the Wright's Fork Extension of the Lexington and Eastern Railroad in this county has been started, and will be rushed to completion. The contracts call for the completion of the Wright's Fork Extensions by March 31st of next year, and trains are expected to be running there April 15, carrying out coal. At Wright's Fork the Big Consolidation Coal Co. is making preparations to start another big model mining city, similar to Jenkins, now being built on Elkhorn. Sawmills are now sawing the lumber for the new city to be built on Wright's Fork, and which six or eight months from seven to eight hundred houses will have been completed. Within a comparatively short time the narrow valleys of Wright's Fork and Elkhorn Camp sections—extending from the mouth of Wright's Fork across and down Elkhorn six miles—will be a solid towns—a modern Connellsville, so to speak—and from her industries eight or ten thousand people will be employed.

The industries now at Jenkins are a number of large lumber mills—the Vansant Lumber Co. band mill; the Nichola Building Co. mill; and the Pine Mountain Mfg. Co. band mill; with a number of big planing mills, drykilns, brick plants, ice plant, big power plant, etc., besides the street grade work, road building, train road building, opening mines, building tipples, extensive house building, gives work to at least a 1000 men, and even more are needed. At least barns, etc., are now being rapidly pushed. The hotels and boarding houses are inadequate to house the great number of laborers.

At Jenkins there will be sixteen mine openings, sixteen tipples, ten large barns, a mammoth light and power plant, a large artificial lake by building a concrete dam across Elkhorn, a nice park, one of the best water systems in the country, a theatre, and in fact everything that goes to make an up-to-date city. A few months ago the Consolidation Coal Co., made the announcement that they will spend $40,000,000 in the development of the Elkhorn coal field. They are making a start looking to the end. —Pikeville Advocate.

RENA MOORE FOUND GUILTY.

Rena Moore, the colored woman charged with having caused the death of Mary Davidson and babe by setting off a powder explosion, was convicted in the Criminal Court of Mingo county, W. Va., Friday. The charge was murder in the first degree but the jury recommended mercy and she will be sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

A series of meetings will commence at the Baptist church Sunday evening, October 15. Rev. Akers will be assisted by Rev. Murray, of Louisa.—Ceredo Advance.

SHOT IN THE FOOT.

Drunken Prank Cripples Young Man For Life.

Thomas Steele has evidently been reading tales of old cowboy days, the times when the Terror of The Town was wont to shoot close to the pedal extremities of the tenderfoot, "jest to make him dance." Out on Abies creek, a branch of Cherokee, the other day Tom pulled his gun and began to pepper the soil near Albert Boggs' feet, just to see how close he could come to them and not hit them. Thomas was full of bug juice, however, and as his pistol hand wobbled, one of the bullets found lodgment in Albert's tootsie wootsie, making a wound that will cripple him for a long time. Deputy Sheriff Cordle arrested Steele and brought him before Squire Greene, who sent him to jail in default of bail for his appearance in Circuit Court.

Advice to ladies who would defend their homes with a gun: If you want to hit the intruder aim about fifteen or twenty feet to the right or left of the mark.

The new school law of this state was given further construction by the Court of Appeals in the case of Jesse Wheatley against the Division Board of Education of Hancock Co. The case was on an appeal from Hancock. The Court of appeals holds that under the new law the division board has the power to remove a teacher for cause, and need only give a reasonable notice of the proposed action instead of five days notice as was contended. The opinion holds that act of March, 1908 does not repeal Section 4,447 of the Kentucky Statutes.

TIMBER AND TIES.

The recent rise in the BigSandy brought out a huge quantity of ties and timber. Two hundred and fifty-six log rafts and 41 rafts of railroad ties went out, the rapidly falling river leaving many rafts on bars. The logs amounted to 5,000 cubic feet of timber, while the number of ties was about 40,000. The timber was of excellent quality and will command the top of the market.

THE TESTAMENT TIMES BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

THE SECOND TEMPLE'S FOUNDATION

Exra iii, 1-4; 5-Oct. 22

"Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise."—Psalm c. 4

THE journey from Babylon to Jerusalem required about five months. Exra with his small company subsequently made the journey in four months. We can well imagine the enthusiasm of this company of captives of all the tribes, people of all ages. A few of the very aged remembered having seen the land and the city in their childhood.

Arrived at their destination they found terrible dilapidation. The crumbling hand of time had cooperated with the destructive fires of Nebuchadnezzar's army, seventy years previous. To live in the city was scarcely practicable. The people scattered in the country round about for a distance of twenty miles. First, attention was properly paid to making themselves comfortable, preparing dwellings, training olive trees and vines.

Altar on Mount Moriah.

But shortly after, the religious sentiment stirred them to prepare for offering formal worship to the God whose favored people they were delighted again to be.

First, the altar was built on the height of Mount Moriah, supposedly the very spot where Abraham offered his son Isaac—the very spot which was made the site of the altar in Solomon's temple. Divine worship began, and the Feast of Tabernacles was observed in the seventh month. By the next spring they felt ready to begin the reconstruction of the temple.

The news of the return of the people and of their start to rebuild the temple of the Lord spread amongst the people of the land who, in some respects at least, had been recognized as Israel's enemies. Now, however, they desired to join hands and become participants in the building of the new temple.

However, this kind invitation was refused with the answer, "Ye have nothing to do with us, to build a house unto our God; but we, ourselves, will build it unto the Lord, the God of Israel, as king Cyrus, the king of Persia, hath commanded us."

Was the Proper Course Taken?

Many have said that the Jews in this matter showed themselves narrow-minded and bigoted; that they should have been glad to have the assistance and the co-operation of their neighbors in the building of the temple, and in all the arrangements for God's worship—they should have had the missionary spirit.

Not so, we reply. Their course was the only proper one when we understand the terms and conditions under which God was dealing with Israel. It was not their commission to make Israelites out of all nations; they, as one nation, had been elected or selected by God to establish and to offer the sacrifices and worship which God had ordained through Moses. They were not at liberty to change or amend the Divine proposition and to bring others into the "elect" nation. There was indeed a method by which outsiders, non-Israelites, might become Israelites—by becoming proselytes of the gate; but in no other than in such an open, public renunciation of their wills and by devotion to Jehovah.

The Jews are still following the Divine arrangement for them in keeping aloof from other religions and by refraining from inter-marriage with other peoples. God has thus preserved that nation separate from all others, and He tells us why. For them He has a great place in the Divine program. They are again to become God's people. God's representatives in the earth, after the Elect Church shall have been completed and glorified on the heavenly plane.

Spiritual Israel's Policy

The same policy should be observed by Spiritual Israel—"The Temple of God is holy, which Temple ye are." No outside, unconsecrated stones are wanted in this Temple. Let the world build its own. God permits His consecrated ones to be associated with Himself in the building of this Temple; as St. Jude declares, the saints, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, are to "build one another up in the most holy faith" (Jude 20). There is absolutely no place for worldly workers in conjunction with this great work of God now in progress.

The Lord's consecrated people are in training for a throne. Our Father is the Great King and He has promised that The Christ shall sit upon His throne, and we have been invited to become parts of The Christ, the Anointed, The Messiah. Shall we wonder that we need training for this important position? Shall we be surprised if disciplines are imposed and requirements made of us more than are imposed upon those not intended for this high position?

TO CORRECT FALSE REPORTS.

As the regular October term of the Lawrence Fiscal Court has just past, and as there had to be and was elected at this term of court a keeper of the infirmary, there were two candidates—the present keeper, Mr. Lindsey Pigg, whose bid was one dollar each per week for all inmates over five years of age, and the other candidate was Mr. D. C. Hughes, whose bid was $1.25 for each inmate over five years of age, and Mr. Hughes was elected and will be the keeper of the infirmary for the Fiscal Year of 1912, beginning with March 1, 1912, and ending March 1, 1913, with a loss to the taxpayers of about $260. I was informed after the election that the reason the court refused Mr. Pigg, whose bid was $1.00, and accepted Mr. Hughes whose bid was $1.25, which is at least $260 loss to the taxpayers of the county for the year 1912, was that Mr. Pigg had in various ways mistreated the inmates, and after these facts had been made known to me I went out to the farm and made a thorough investigation of the matter as I could, and submit the following report:

I found all the rooms in a clean, sanitary condition, the beds and covers were all clean, the walks were in a good condition and grounds nicely kept. I talked with all the inmates as to their treatment and they had much to say in praise of Mr. Pigg and his good wife and family, and as a supplement to this report I submit the following affidavits, viz:

State of Kentucky.

The affiant, Lindsey Pigg, states that he was elected at the October term, 1910, by the Fiscal Court of Lawrence county, Kentucky, as poor house keeper for a period of one year, and taken charge of said position March 1, 1911, and that he was a candidate for re-election at the October term 1911, of the Fiscal Court for poorhouse keeper, and was defeated, as he believes by reason of a false report which had been circulated against him. That the report which was circulated against him was, that he was unkind, and overworked the inmates of the poorhouse, and mistreated them, and was cruel to them. Affiant says in the way of vindication of himself of this false report which has been circulated for the sole purpose of injuring him, says, that from the time he entered upon his duties as keeper of the poorhouse up and to the present and at all times, he treated the inmates in a kind and humane manner, that he at no time mistreated any of them and never overworked and abused them in any manner, and that the report which has been circulated of the kind of treatment the inmates received while in affiant's custody, is without foundation, false, unwarranted and untrue, and as affiant believes was known to the parties at the time they circulated this false report.

The affiant Lindsey Pigg states that each and all the facts stated in this his affidavit are true.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by Lindsey Pigg, this 9th day of October, 1911.

DAVID BOGGS,

Judge Lawrence County, State of Kentucky.

The affiant, Thomas Kirk, says that he is acquainted with Lindsey Pigg, keeper of the poorhouse of Lawrence county, Kentucky, that he worked with and for the said Lindsey Pigg during last summer, and worked on the poorhouse farm, with the said Lindsey Pigg and some of the inmates of the poorhouse, and know that the inmates were treated by Lindsey Pigg in a kind and humane manner, and as to any report which has been circulated that the said Lindsey Pigg was unkind, and mistreated said inmates and overworked any of them, is untrue, false and without foundation, but to the contrary he was kind and humane, and did not work any of them hard, and did not mistreat them in any wise. That any report to the contrary if such has been circulated is unwarranted and false.

This 9th day of October, 1911.

POLITICAL MATTERS.

Interesting Reading About the Kentucky Campaign.

O'Rear's Family Rides on Railroad Passes.

Proof of Judge O'Rear's inconsistency and insincerity is being furnished in heaping measure as the campaign proceeds. It is easy to take up every position he has assumed, and show by the record that his private views and acts are at variance with his public professions.

The very latest evidence against him on this score, is in the matter of free passes, and has been produced by the Lexington Herald. In a speech accepting the Republican nomination, he referred to the Constitutional provision against the use of free passes by public officials, and he pledged himself, if elected Governor, to see that a law was placed upon the Statute book enforcing that section. Since his nomination, he has frequently condemned the railroads for issuing such passes, and public men for accepting them, and has pointed to it as a fruitful source of corruption.

On the day that Judge O'Rear arose in the State Convention and condemned the use of free passes, his family rode from Frankfort to Louisville on passes issued by a railroad and it is fair to presume that they could not and would not have accepted these favors from the railroad without the knowledge and consent of Judge O'Rear.

It is just as culpable for the family of the Judge of the Court Appeals to ride on free passes himself to receive such favors, and as it would be for that official to violate the spirit if not the letter of the Constitution when he permits them to put him in that embarrassing position.

This charge was openly made by the Lexington Herald, and it has been substantiated by others. So far, Judge O'Rear has not made any explanation of how it happened that he could be so bitterly opposed to the railroads giving free passes to public officials when his own family profits by the practice.

In his speech at Bowling Green, on Monday, Judge O'Rear condemned the railroads, because, as he charged, they have for many years secured control of the Legislative committees. If this is true, it is most reprehensible, and calls for the severest condemnation; but as long as Judge O'Rear's family continues to be the guest of the railroads in their journeyings about the State, his criticism will be received with suspicion and with doubt as to his consistency and sincerity.

Governor McCreary an Aggressive Leader. Judge O'Rear believes that his fifty years equip him particularly for the position of Chief Executive of Kentucky. He modestly says that he is just young enough, and just old enough, and that his mind is so admirably poised and his judgment so perfected that he will be able to give the people an ideal administration.

Senator McCreary has had all the fifty years experience that Judge O'Rear has had, and more on top of that, as a true and tried public servant, associated with the great men of the country, and holding his own in any company in point of ability and integrity. He is old enough to be conservative when necessary, and young enough to be in touch with the progressive thought of the day. He knows the needs of this State as no other man knows them, and as he has no revenues to pay, no ambitions to satisfy, and no selfish interests to serve, he will be in a position to give to his duties the unselfish labors of his heart and brain.

Governor McCreary has not missed an appointment in this Campaign. He has worn out every young man who attempted to follow him. He travels at night by preference, and morning finds him alert and aggressive, ready and eager to fight the battles of his party.

He has met every issue raised by the Republican party promptly, and with courage, and has shown an ability to take care of himself that has won the admiration of friend and foe alike. He has taken the lead in the spirited Campaign that is being conducted throughout the State, and wherever he has gone, he has been a vigorous example to his fellow-candidates, and has inspired his hearers with the conviction that there is no way to defeat him.

While Judge O'Rear is pining bouquets on himself because of his youth, Governor McCreary is reaping the reward that comes to one who has lived a blameless life, and who has won the affection of the whole people.

When Governor Willson gets back to Frankfort from his last jaunt, he will have wasted exactly 270 days for which he has drawn full salary. Lieutenant Governor Cox getting an equal amount from the Treasury for doing the Governor's work. This is the same Gus Willson who, four years ago, made the identical promises that Judge O'Rear is making this year. He was going to be industrious, efficient and economical, and he has been none of these things.

Although every Democratic speaker, and every Democratic newspaper has asked Judge O'Rear to express himself as to whether or not he approved the $2,000,000. dollar increase on the taxable value of farm lands assessed by the present Republican Administration, in two years, he is as silent as the tomb on the subject. The platform which he had Caleb Powers write endorses Willson's Administration, and this was one of the conspicuous acts of that Administration. It is a fixed policy of the Republican party to take from the poor and give to the rich, and when Governor Willson's Board of Equalization decreased the taxes on the banks and increased them on the farm lands, they were only following the practices of their party.

Judge O'Rear says that he too, can talk on national issues, but he doesn't want to do it until next year. His platform endorses all of the acts of Taft's administration, which were rejected by the voters in the elections last year when the lower House of Congress went Democratic. They will be rejected this year in Kentucky, too, because we are going to elect a Legislature in November that will send a man to the United States Senate who is committed to the doctrine of a tariff for revenue only, and who is opposed to the criminal and oppressive trusts which O'Rear's party created and endorses.

Judge O'Rear is pleading poverty in all his speeches and weeps because he has not money enough to organize big meetings and get up barbecues. If the Judge will make inquiry, he will find that these great Democratic gatherings are organized by the Democracies of the various counties who are bearing the expense themselves. There is no good reason, however, why he should not take some of the $30,000.00 which he and his associates on the ticket contributed to their Campaign fund and give a barbecue with it if he wants to. As a practical politician, perhaps the Judge knows a surer way to get a run for his money.

McCreary's Damaging Charge Against O'Rear. In his speech at Wickliffe, Governor McCreary created a profound sensation by the charge that O'Rear was present at a conference at the Galt House, in Louisville, before the assassination of Governor Goebel, and that he made a speech at that meeting in which he advocated the use of armed men and violence to keep Taylor in office. The accusation shocked those who heard it, and struck terror to the hearts of those who have been holding Judge O'Rear up to the public as a defender of law and order. Governor McCreary would not have made this statement unless he was prepared to prove it. He would not slander his opponent for the office of Governor. He gives as his authority two prominent gentlemen who were present at the conference, and who were so astounded by the revolutionary advice given by Judge O'Rear to those present, that his very words were burned into their memories. Governor McCreary, in giving circulation to this report, disclaimed any intention to revive the bitterness of the Goebel-Taylor contest, but he felt that the voters were entitled to have the light thrown on Judge O'Rear, who is now the pretended Evangel of peace and progress, when, in those days, he was the advocate of revolution and disorder.

It is not generally known that Judge O'Rear was one of the secret managers and advisers of Taylor and his party in that election. His work had commended him to the Republican Committee, and they were glad to avail themselves of his knowledge and his skill. In that memorable Campaign, tissue ballots were first used. Of course no one would charge that Judge O'Rear had any knowledge that these ballots were printed and circulated for the purpose of defeating Goebel out of the Governorship, but some of O'Rear's wicked partners in that Campaign planned and carried out this crooked scheme.

It is significant that Judge O'Rear has never condemned the rascality and the lawlessness that were part and parcel of that election. He was on the bench the whole time the Goebel murderers were being tried. He has full knowledge of the evidence produced, but when Gov. McCreary asked him if he approved of the pardon of Powers and Howard, and other convicted assassins, he has never found time to answer that vital inquiry. He must approve of the pardon of Powers, because he permitted that conspirator to sit on the Committee of Resolutions in the Republican Convention, and co-operated with him in the writing of the platform upon which he now stands.

Judge O'Rear was in Frankfort during the whole period that led up to the assassination of Governor Goebel. The gathering of the army, and the scenes of blood and violence that followed, was the direct result of the advice that he gave at the Galt House Conference. He cannot escape moral responsibility for that condition.

When you have a bad cold you want the best medicine obtainable, so as to cure it with as little delay as possible. Here is a druggist's opinion: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for fifteen years," says Enos Lollar of Saratoga Ind., "and consider it the best on the market." For sale by all dealers.

Under the present conditions of the race we feel very certain that if Judge O'Rear had to do it over he would not be a candidate for Governor.

Shellhorn Lady Suffered a Great Deal, But Is All Right Now.

Shellhorn, Ala.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Carrie May says: "A short time ago, I commenced to have weak spells and headaches. I felt bad all the time, and soon grew so bad I couldn't stay up. I thought I would die. At last my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, and it helped me; so he got some more. After I had taken the second bottle, I was entirely well. I wish every lady, suffering from womanly trouble, would try Cardui. It is the best medicine I know of. It did me more good than anything I ever used."

Cardui is a woman's tonic—a strengthening medicine for women, made from ingredients that act specifically on the womanly organs, and thus help to build up the womanly constitution to glowing good health. As a remedy for woman's ills, it has a successful record of over 50 years. Your druggist sells it. Please try it.

Maysville, Ky., Oct. 11.—Watt Tully, a sixteen-year-old lad, was instantly killed at his home at Cottageville, this county, by a companion named Martin Toncroy. The boys were getting ready to go hunting and when Toncroy reached for a gun on a rack, it was in some manner discharged, the charge striking Tully in the head, tearing it from his shoulders. Toncroy is almost insane over the accident.

At noon Thursday the evidence was all taken and the case given to the jury, which was out one hour, returning a verdict of not guilty.

FRED VINSON'S SPEECH.

Young Louisa Lawyer's First Introductory Address.

Mr. Chairman—

Ladies and Gentlemen:—

For the greater portion of three months, the fight for the political supremacy in this commonwealth has been waged. Orators of both state and national fame have been secured by the campaign managers in order that no stone be unturned in their effort to land their respective candidates in the gubernatorial chair. The election of our Chief Executive and a Legislature is the immediate result of this election, but it is not of interest to the Kentuckian alone for an interested nation awaits the final count which will be indicative of this great state's endorsement or disapproval; their approbation of the policies of the Republican National Administration.

As yet, we, Big Sandians, have little felt the touch of this modern political warfare and when the distinguished gentleman from the Southland addresses you, the Democratic Party will have fired its initial shot in this our county. The gentleman comes not to blind you with his sweet pleasantries of speech, with his beautiful rhetorical utterances; but he comes to reason with you as man with man; he comes to enlighten you on the vital current issues with which he has come in contact through his long and honored career in Congress.

Many years have passed since the wars of the brothers and it is high time we eradicate all traces of that awful civil strife from our minds. Both thought they were in the right; both stood and fought for principles as they saw it. Blinded by passion and prejudices, both were stubborn, unwilling to be led; unwilling to reason, and though they had the right to do as they did, to think as they did, it does not license you to vote according to the prejudices of that ought-to-be forgotten fact. So obliterate them from your minds, cast aside those closely drawn party lines and vote for that which vitally interests you, now.

Listen well, my Republican friend and were the gentleman to show you that the State's welfare, the nation's welfare, your welfare and that of your family, depends upon a vote against that party which allows no remedy for the high cost of living; against that party which has nurtured monopolistic greed; then be brave enough, be fair to yourself and your friends to vote your judgment.

Listen well, my Democratic friends, and if the views of the gentleman are in accord with yours, then buckle on the armor of your convictions, stand by our colors—aye, be a standard bearer yourself and bring into power that party which has been your mediator these many years.

The people of Lawrence county have been signally noticed and honored by the Democratic State Executive Committee through the efforts of our chairman, Mr. Carter. They been fortunate in securing the presence of one of the South's most favored sons, both in intellectual and oratorical attainments. His name and fame have preceded him. But there is something other than his successful meeting the issues of the day in the jocular, dignified, gentlemanly way he does, that interests me most; it is the services that he has rendered his state and nation that loom up pre-eminently before me.

History tells us that, in 1775, a band of patriots met in Philadelphia there to wrestle with and right the woes of a downtrodden country. As a consequence they gave to the world that immortal document—The Declaration of Independence, saying through Virginia's great son, "That the United Colonies, are and of right ought to be free and independent states, and that they are absolved from Crown." They launched the ship of Statehood on the Sea of Freedom and gave to a woe-ridden country her Independence. It was the stimulus that urged on the Sons of the Revolution to well-earned victory and such a reward. Its effect on the social, political and constitutional history of the world by the ingress of the United States in to the affairs of the nations can hardly be estimated.

One hundred and more years have passed. The woes of a downtrodden people this time, call for a second Bill of Rights. Congress—the people's voice, supposedly so, have met yearly and have given no relief. The minority has struggled valiantly and at last they see the function of their labors in the passage of a series of bills even though they met an untimely end at the hand of a reactionary President. They gave to the people a Bill of Rights, through no such revolutionary means as our fathers used, but by safe, sane legislation they passed the bills that would have met the high cost of living, bills which were the people's releases from the hands of trust influence reiterating in a modified form the utterance of Lee "that we are and of right ought to be free and independent people, and that we are absolved from all allegiance to the Trust Kings." They launched the ship of the Common People on the State of Right and whither it wafts depends on you, on me. As the Ancient Document was a stimulus, just so with these. A battle must be waged for the people, to secure their rights. Hence, when we have so distinguished a citizen in our midst—a co-worker with "our" James and "our" Underwood for the masses rights, I say that we are honored and that I am privileged and honored in being permitted to introduce to the citizenship of Lawrence county, the Honorable J. Thomas Hefflin, of Alabama.

KENTUCKY NORMAL COLLEGE

Announcement Made for the Winter and Spring Terms.

I desire to state to my many friends throughout eastern Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia, that after December 20, 1911, I will be doing business at the "old stand"—Kentucky Normal College. I am receiving letters every day from students asking me about school and all pledge their support for the winter, so I hope Louisa citizens will get busy and make the K. N. C. just what it should be. I am spending much time in the organization work, and will be found in the country, on the creeks, and among the hills, seeing my people and urging the boys and girls to enroll in the K. N. C. My old students, I shall ask you to get busy and help to fill the K. N. C. to its utmost capacity on January 1, 1912.

Kentucky Normal College will prove a rousing success if Louisa and Lawrence county do their part as the "boys and girls" in adjoining counties have already put on the "war point" and are fighting the battle of the K. N. C.

Write me at Pikeville, Ky., prior to Dec. 20, 1911, and after that date at Louisa, Ky.

Truly,

Wonderful Praise Accorded Peruna the Household Remedy

Mrs. Maria Goertz, Oriola, Oklahoma, writes:

"My husband, children and myself have used your medicines, and we always keep them in the house in case of necessity. I was restored to health by this medicine, and Dr. Hartman's invaluable advice and books. People ask about me from different places, and are surprised that I can do all of my housework alone, and that I was cured by the doctor of chronic catarrh. My husband was cured of asthma, my daughter of earache and catarrh of the stomach, and my son of catarrh of the throat. When I was sick I weighed 100 pounds; now I weigh 140.

"I have regained my health again, and I cannot thank you enough for your advice. May God give you a long life and bless your work."

place a tag bearing the amount of tariff tax on every article made by them. If this is done how long would a party which favors the iniquitous tariff tax remain in power?

Judge O'Rear's assertion that this year is not the proper time for a discussion of National issues is not founded on fact. "This is not the proper time," says the Republican candidate for Governor, but the Judge endorses President Taft and all his acts, including his appointment of 14000 negroes to public office. Mr. Hefflin's reasons why we should keep the Legislature safely Democratic were logical and strong and should be heeded by every voter who heard him.

Many who have heard other political speeches in the court house declare that Mr. Hefflin's effort was the finest of the kind they ever listened to. Mr. Hefflin spoke one hour and forty minutes, and from the opening sentence to the final eloquent period it was listened to with unwearied attention.
